People with a combination of these conditions (including PAD) are at increased risk of a more severe form of the heart or circulatory disease.